France Agrees To 'Collaborate' With Germany

Report That Permission Is Given In New "Collaboration" Agreement

French Industries To Work Full Blast Turning Out German Supplies

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, May 17.—Under the terms of the new Franco-German "collaboration" agreement, the Vichy government of France has, it was learned today, agreed to permit German armed forces to use French naval and air bases on the European continent and in Africa.

International News Service is able to reveal exclusively the general terms of the collaboration agreement as they are known in official quarters in Washington.

Cause Of Roosevelt Move

It was knowledge of these terms which prompted President Roosevelt to order the virtual seizure of 14 French ships in American ports and to condemn vigorously the Vichy government for agreeing to them. The startling nature of the military and economic concessions granted Germany under the agreement is regarded in authoritative quarters here as placing France definitely in the Axis camp.

In addition to granting Germany the right to use the French naval and air bases, the Vichy government also agreed to permit French industries in the unoccupied area to start working full blast on orders for Germany. This is seen here as meaning that millions of French workers may soon start turning out war supplies for Germany.

In return for these concessions, Hitler is understood to have agreed to give France generous peace terms and to accept that nation as an equal in the establishment of the new order in Europe. Hitler also has agreed to assist France economically pending the outcome of the war and to release a large number of French prisoners of war as well as easing the regulations

Cologne Is Pounded By British Bombers

By JAMES E. BROWN
International News Service Staff Correspondent
LONDON, May 17.—British bombers carried out widespread attacks against targets in Germany and Nazi-occupied territory last night and early today while German raiders hammered the midlands and other areas of Britain.

The great German manufacturing city of Cologne and other districts in Germany's Rhineland were attacked by the R. A. F. and German-held channel ports also were subjected to a terrific three-hour pounding by British planes.

Heavily Pounded

An air ministry communique said Cologne was heavily pounded by bombs that started "large fires in industrial quarters on both sides of the Rhine."

The communique added that docks at the French port of Boulogne were attacked during the daylight hours of yesterday while a number of vessels (Continued On Page Two)

Britain Is Suspicious Hitler Knew All About Hess' Fantastic 'Escape'

By EARL REEVES
International News Service Staff Correspondent
LONDON, May 17.—Amid growing suspicion that Chancellor Hitler knew all about Rudolf Hess' fantastic "escape" from Germany to Britain, Prime Minister Winston Churchill's government redoubled its efforts today to find the answer to the "Hess riddle."

According to the London Daily Mail, the Royal Air Force has "lent" the Duke of Hamilton, an air commodore, to the ministry of information to aid in the investigation.

Until the mystery of Hess' flight to Scotland was cleared up, it was said, the duke will assist both the information ministry and the foreign office in examining Hess and probing all circumstances of his adventurous trip from Germany. The duke, whom Hess originally intended to see, already has talked with the former No. 3 Nazi leader a number of times.

Story Is Denied

Like most other reports connected with Hess, the Daily Mail story later was "authoritatively" denied.

Meanwhile many London circles became increasingly convinced that

Berlin Claims Sollum Retaken

Assert Stronghold Has Now Changed Hands For Fifth Time

CLASHES CONTINUE ON AFRICAN FRONT

(International News Service)
BERLIN, May 17.—Recapture of the northwestern Egyptian stronghold of Sollum by combined Italo-German forces was claimed by the German high command today only 24 hours after British seizure of the town had been officially conceded.

Sollum now has changed hands five times since the fighting in Africa began.

In addition, the high command said, Axis forces recaptured Fort Capuzzo on the Libyan side of the frontier as well as the town of Sidi Aziz.

Italo-German forces regained control of these areas yesterday in fierce fighting in which they captured 140 prisoners, according to the German war communique.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Yesterday both Cairo and Berlin announced that British forces had recaptured Sollum. Today, however, military circles in London were silent on the Sollum situation but revealed that the British lines had been advanced in the defense area at the Libyan Port of Tobruk.

(In Ethiopia, according to these British quarters, British troops arrived at Badolia, 50 miles north of Neghelli.)

The German high command said the Italo-German troops ousted the British from Sollum by means of a fierce counter-attack. At Tobruk it was claimed Italo-German forces attacked the British garrison there capturing three officers and 22 men and destroying two tanks.

British Check Reports More Nazi Experts Pouring Into Dakar

By MERRILL MUELLER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, May 17.—More German air, army, and naval experts today were reported pouring into the French west African port of Dakar, while German and Italian air fleets constantly reinforced the Axis forces in French-mandated Syria.

British authorities were said to be checking reports that new movements of Reichswehr officers and other "technicians" toward Dakar are taking place.

In addition, the German naval personnel at the port—where some of France's best naval units are based—reportedly is being increased.

1850 Miles From Brazil

(Dakar, site of an abortive British-Free French coup last year, is only 1850 miles from Natal, Brazil. Senator Pepper of Florida recently proposed that the United States seize the port, but today Senator Reynolds of North Carolina, new head of the senate military affairs committee, said such an act would plunge America into war with Germany.)

One batch of 16 German planes landed today at Damascus, in Syria, and others reached Aleppo.

Britain meanwhile was believed to be keeping up its raids on Axis-held airports in Syria.

Information in London indicates only a certain percentage of the Axis planes which reached Syria are hopping on to Iraq to aid the Iraqi in their fight against the British.

Birmingham Bomb Target Says Berlin

(International News Service)
BERLIN, May 17.—More than 100 German bombers were declared today to have attacked the manufacturing city of Birmingham in the English Midlands last night, pouring down bombs of all calibers in a three-hour assault.

An official announcement added the 7937-ton British steamer Statesman, owned by the Furness Line, was sunk by an aerial attacker west of Ireland.

While the German attacks were in progress, R. A. F. bombers penetrated western Germany and dropped incendiary and high explosive bombs on residential areas and one minor industrial plant.

No military damage was inflicted but several civilians were killed, according to the communique.

Hundreds Share In Third Annual B. & O. Program On Friday

Men of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, their families and friends gathered Friday night in the Cathedral for the third annual B. & O. Day celebration, and while no exact count of the crowd was kept, there appeared to be about 1,400 in the ball room who did not attend the meeting itself.

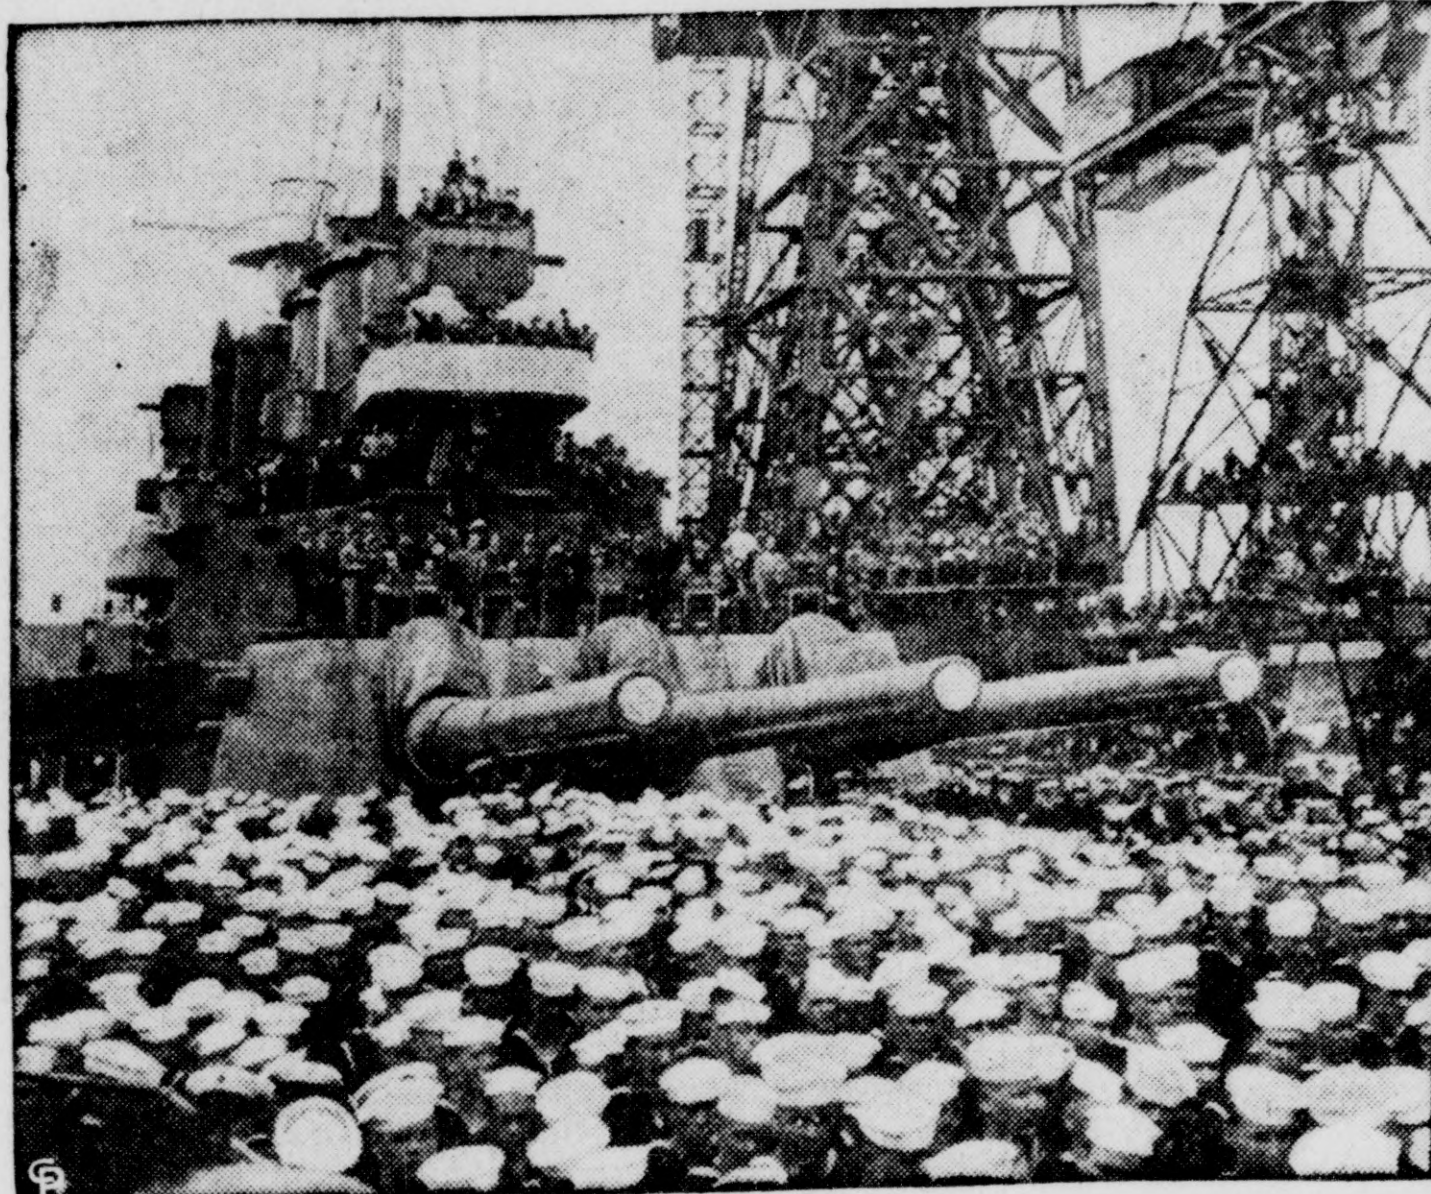

The formal program started at 7:30 in the evening, but the celebration went on from early in the morning when the golf tournament was held at the New Castle Field club and J. B. Clark, general yard master of Akron, walked off with the trophy. At noon the golfers were entertained at luncheon in the Field club house.

At 7:30 a picture was shown at the Cathedral featuring famous buildings in Washington, D. C. This was followed by half an hour of vaudeville entertainment by Pittsburgh entertainers, C. J. Roessel, master of ceremonies then took charge.

Mr. Roessel wasted little time in his remarks and in a few words

Coal Mines May Be Halted Again

Negotiations Continued Today In Effort To Reach Agreement

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, May 17.—Possibility of a new soft coal stoppage next week loomed today as representatives of the CIO United Mine Workers of America and southern Appalachian bituminous operators were scheduled to resume their deadlock negotiations.

A renewal of the stoppage which kept 400,000 miners from their jobs throughout April and hampered steel and other national defense industries seemed imminent unless the government again steps into the picture.

Despite the fact that the union's agreement with the northern Appalachian operators is entirely satisfactory, the northern mines as well as the southern would shut down if no agreement is reached with the southern operators.

Neither the southern operators nor the union showed any inclination to back down on the major issues which include the UMW's demand that a 40 cent wage differential in favor of the south be eliminated. The northern mine operators are paying miners $7 per day as compared with $6.60 in the south. The southerners are adamant in their demand for retention of the differential on the grounds of higher freight rates in that territory.

Report Second Battle Of Basra In Progress

(International News Service)
VICHY, May 17.—The second battle of Basra was reported today to be raging around Iraq's only seaport as waves of native troops stormed British positions while R. A. F. planes strafed and bombed Iraqi lines.

An official Baghdad communique, picked up in Vichy, said that British bombers also blasted Mosul, oil field center, and Baghdad, the capital, in two separate attacks on Friday. No damage was done, according to the statement which also told of counter-blows by Iraqi planes against the beleaguered Habbaniyah airbase.

Several successive attacks by reinforced Iraqi troops were made against the British at Basra, the port, which lies at the top of the Persian Gulf.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Once before in the Anglo-Iraqi hostilities, British forces have thrown back a native attack against Basra.

Three British planes, according to the communique were shot down by Iraqi fighters on Friday and bombers of the air force of Premier Rashid Ali Beg Ghalibani's army were said to have destroyed other British planes on the ground at Habbaniyah.

War Spreads To Third Near East Area Is Report

Transjordania Is Reported As Involved In Spread Of Conflict

AXIS PLANES ARE LANDING IN IRAQ

Attention Also Focused On Dakar By Report Nazi Forces Arriving

(International News Service)
Flames of war spread rapidly through the Near East today, as though fed by the oil with which the land abounds.

Budapest reported that a third area—Transjordania—became involved Iraq irregular troops under the famous nationalist leader Fawzi Kaukaji reportedly invaded Transjordan territory, which is British mandated, and across which the Iraq-Haifa oil pipe line runs. Three Iraqi bombers were said to have raided the Transjordan capital of Amman.

Axis Planes Arrive

Italy confirmed that Fascist planes have been sent to Iraq. British sources said that more German and Italian aircraft are streaking into Syria. Instead of flying on to Iraq, most of the Axis planes were said to remain in the French-mandated area between Turkey and Iraq, where permanent German-Italian bases are being established.

In North Africa, the Axis said that Britain's victory at Sollum was short-lived. The British were reported driven out of the northwestern Egyptian port with heavy losses only a day after British Imperial troops occupied it. The Axis likewise claimed recapture of Fort Capuzzo to the south. Both sides reported advances at beleaguered Tobruk.

Attention On Dakar

Keen attention also became focused on Dakar, the westernmost projection of French West Africa, and the eastern hemisphere's closest approach to the new world. British sources said they were checking latest reports of new movements of Nazi officers and other "technicians" to Dakar.

London heard, too, that the German naval personnel is being increased at Dakar, where some of

Wage Increases At Ford Plant

(International News Service)
DETROIT, May 17.—Almost on the eve of a National Labor Relations Board collective bargaining election at its Rouge and Lincoln plants, the Ford Motor Company announced today that annual wage increases totaling $13,682,432 have been given to 53,024 workers since the first of the year.

In announcing the wage increase in the face of the election, scheduled for next Wednesday, Harry Bennett, Ford personnel director, said that representatives of the American Federation of Labor were instrumental in obtaining the wage hikes.

There once was a time when I dallied at golf, and did pretty good I would say, my scores weren't so high, and my form wasn't bad, but that was a long distant day. I drove fairly well, two fifty sometimes, but my putting was never so hot, and my short iron play now and then would go bad and I'd bat them all over the lot. But that's long ago, and today I would guess that my game has gone back I'm afraid for in place of my golf clubs I'm using just now, a rake and a hoe and a spade. The golf clubs are idle and that is all right, in fact it is almost okay, for I'm gardening now and it's just as good sport, it's damp, over sixty today.

Declare Defense Program Is Lagging

Drastic Action May Be Sought

Senate Defense Committee Members Hint At Special Report Of Situation

ARMS PROGRAM IS BEHIND SCHEDULE

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Declaring that the American defense program is lagging, some members of the Senate defense investigating committee today hinted at possibility of a special report demanding drastic action to correct deficiencies.

Eager to avoid sensationalism, members of the committee emphasized that they do not blame any one man or group of men. They also frankly said that tremendous strides have been made.

Behind Goal Set
The vast arms program, Sen. Brewster (R., Maine), member of the investigating committee said, is 25 to 30 per cent behind the goal set months ago.

Sen. Truman (D., Mo.), chairman of the Senate committee, said that the investigation thus far "presents a most disturbing picture."

"There is no excuse for the selfishness exhibited on both sides—labor and the people profiting by defense contracts," said Truman.

"We have evidence that many have made exorbitant profits. The only way to reach them is by heavy taxation."

"We do not yet have enough evidence to make a report on the question of lack of coordination. I think it will be a month before we can make an interim report."

governing the demarcation lines between the occupied and unoccupied regions.

Fleet Not Turned Over
The only consolation which the British are likely to find in the new agreement is that under its terms Marshal Henri Petain still refuses to turn over the French fleet and air force to Germany or to engage in actual hostilities against Great Britain.

Furthermore, it was learned that Petain sometime ago issued orders that not one French warship was to move from its dock or anchorage without specific authorization from him. Not even Admiral Francois Darlan, the vice-premier, can order a single warship to move without the aged Marshal's approval.

However, informed quarters here fear that despite Petain's orders, Germany will succeed in getting control of the French fleet before many weeks have passed. This fear is based on the conviction that Petain's authority in Vichy is about to disappear under the new collaboration agreement. Admiral Darlan is now seen as sitting in the saddle with Petain about to become the Hindenburg of France.

American officials are reluctant to condemn the Marshal himself for what is happening. Vichy advisers indicate the hero of Verdun held out just about as long as he could against both Hitler's demands and the pressure of those around him, especially Darlan, who favored the policy of close collaboration.

Hitler is understood to have informed Darlan at their recent meeting that this was the last chance he intended to give France. Either Petain must agree to the collaboration terms, or the German army would occupy all of France and the nation would be dismembered in the final peace settlement imposed by the Axis.

That Petain was able to hold out for retention of the fleet and air force was considered in authoritative quarters here to be worthy of considerable respect. The Marshal was seen as an old French peasant whose horse, in the form of France, was about to be taken away from him by force unless he agreed to use it as demanded, and he was trying to get the best terms possible.

Vichy meanwhile stood pat on the insistence of Marshal Petain that France has the right to cooperate with Germany, "the winner."

Turkey Calls Up Military Reserves
Newspaper Says Turks Are Ready To Defend Country If Threatened

(International News Service)
ISTANBUL, Turkey, May 17.—Twenty-one classes of Turkish military reservists, constituting Moslems aged from 25 to 45, were called to the colors today.

The same military classes of non-Moslems already have been called up.

The Ankara newspaper Cumhuriyet commented:

"We are ready to defend our country with or without foreign help in the event our life or national independence is threatened."

At the same time, well informed quarters in Ankara expressed belief that Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell, areas now exempt from such attacks, may be announced by Britain as the Vichy government cooperates fully with Germany.

"Government circles in Vichy are manifesting surprise over President Roosevelt's statement insofar as the president interpreted Marshal Petain's speech as putting France's colonies at Germany's disposal," the Havas statement said.

"As America did not help France in May, 1940, France today has the right to try to keep her rank as a great power, defending her territory and empire, and trying to collaborate with the winner to organize continental Europe."

It added that British "threats" against Syria and R. A. F. attacks on Syrian airbases are not yet considered as "signifying a will on the part of Britain to commit aggression upon France."

I AM AN AMERICAN!

WHAT does it mean to be an American citizen?

On May 18 millions of men and women in the United States will be thinking about that. The day has been set apart by congress as "I am an American Day," honoring especially those who have attained full citizenship during the past year either by having become 21 years old if native born, or by naturalization if born elsewhere.

But every American ought to think about it, too, in these days when to be an American is a precious privilege.

What is it, to be an American?

It is to be a free man or a free woman in a free land. It is to walk unafraid, fearing no one, secure in the knowledge that before the people's laws all are equal.

It is to think, and read, and speak and write freely; to seek the truth without hindrance; to breathe the air of a great, free land that still belongs to the people who inhabit it.

It is to be governed under a constitution adopted by the people, which they may change at will, and under laws passed and administered by public servants elected by the people. It is to have a vote in these things equal to any man's vote.

It is to look one's neighbor in the face, be he rich or poor, and to know oneself as good a man as he.

It is to worship whatever God one finds in the heart, and to worship Him as conscience dictates.

It is to bow to no authority but those which the people themselves have ordained and maintain.

It is to grant freely to fellow-Americans all rights and privileges one asks for oneself, and to expect as much from them.

It is to keep for oneself certain corners of the mind, certain phases of intimate and personal life, secure against a state to which the people themselves have said "Keep Out!"

To be an American? It is to be a man, or a woman, before men and before God, with the dignity which God breathed into man when He made him "only a little lower than the angels, and crowned him with glory and honor."

That is what it is to be an American. That is what we celebrate on May 18. That is the ideal to which we dedicate ourselves.

Where we have fallen short of it, and the instances are many, that is the measure of our failure to achieve in full the task we have set ourselves, the most glorious task a people ever undertook.

Our failures as well as our successes are our own. We take them to ourselves, and looking at them squarely, each of us can yet say with pride, "I am an American!"

MACHINE GUN PRODUCTION

One of the great new defense industries now being developed in the United States is the manufacture of machine guns centering around the Colt Patent Firearms Manufacturing Company at Hartford, Conn., where 5,000 men were at work until a CIO strike was called this week.

For twenty years Army and Navy orders for machine guns to be made at this factory were so small that the company was barely able to keep that division of its plant in operation. Now expansion is rapidly taking place and supervisors for half a dozen other factories are being schooled in the technique of machine gun making. By the end of this year it is planned to have 8,000 men making machine guns at Hartford and many times that number will be busy in other factories.

The machine gun has become the most versatile weapon in the war. It is used in tanks, in armored cars, in planes, and on fast ships. And its rapidity of fire has been vastly increased since the last war. When a British Hurricane fighter pumps fire from its eight machine guns, it delivers a greater blast of lead than did all the machine guns in an infantry battalion, firing simultaneously, in the last war.

There are many types of machine guns ranging from average fire power to bullets of such penetration that they can go through some armor plate. It is reported that a cannon caliber machine gun is now being perfected for Uncle Sam that will deliver cannon balls almost as rapidly as present types of machine guns emit smaller bullets.

YOUNG DISCOVERER

Into the life of every normally constituted American boy comes the urge to hunt Indians, or play at it, and he who has not in imagination made more than a redskin bite the dust has missed something in his biological development. Once he has thus satisfied the impulse the average youngster is through. He knows no more and cares less about the continental aborigine.

An exception appears to be Robert D. Scott, 13, of Fort Montgomery, New York. He is an Indian hunter in a way. For him the chase is not for the living savage, but for the relics and evidences of the American native who roamed the forests before the white man usurped his domain. And it appears from the comments of museum authorities that Robert's efforts have been rewarded on a scale that would thrill an adult engaged in the same quest.

Robert, strolling in the hills beside the Hudson, came upon a cave long undiscovered and on exploring it found it abounded in objects in the shape of broken pottery and gorgets (supposedly used as hair ornaments) made of polished slate that established it as a shelter used by the Algonquians.

Archaeological researches indicate that the Algonquians were preceded by a still more primitive people that had crude tools but no pottery. One group of students has maintained discovery of evidence in the east of three horizons of human culture.

The Parent Problem

TESTS SHOW BEST PLAN TO MEMORIZE

Many studies on the memorizing of poetry and prose have been published. Most of these studies indicate that it is more economical in learning a stanza or poem, or a paragraph or larger selection of prose, to read the whole thing over and over until it is remembered. The psychological explanation is that each part of the selection is in some vague way, at least, connected in the mind of the learner who goes over the whole selection and that, therefore, the learning and recalling of any one item tends to aid in the learning and recall of every other part.

Some children and youths have such good mechanical memories that after they read or hear a poem or selection of prose several times they can repeat it word for word. For such the "whole method" is unquestionably the best. The rank and file of persons, however, learn such selections only after many, many repetitions.

Learning By Sections

The average person who sets out to memorize, especially when it is an assigned task, hardly has the same urge to employ this whole method which has been proved so successfully under laboratory conditions. Anyway, he rarely uses this method. It seems. Some teachers who urge their students to employ the "whole method" don't use it themselves when they have occasion to do memorizing of poetry or prose.

A big item is the feeling of success as a means of striving when memorizing. Having centered on a stanza or several lines and mastered them the learner's confidence tends to increase faster than if he had spent the same amount of time and effort going over and over the entire selection. Of course, the student who will discipline himself to stick to the whole method will usually save time and effort.

Learn Meaning

Perhaps most students could be persuaded to read the entire selection over five or six times, at least, before attempting to memorize segments of it.

Learning first the meaning of the content fully might increase one's desire to learn the selection by heart. Nevertheless, if one grew interested in content and cultivated the habit always of condensing what one reads, learning a selection by heart might grow more and more difficult. This helps explain why children under 6 with poorer memories than they will have at 10 or 12 seem to have better memories. It also may suggest the wisdom of rote memory by the child, of some beautiful selections of prose and poetry, long before he is able to appreciate their meaning.

Solving Parent Problems
Q. "Suppose a child 2 1/2 years old resents adult visitors?"

A. See that this child does not rule the house when no guests are present. Guide him gradually in finding self-entertainment. It takes long, continuous training.

Q. Would you treat an adolescent son or daughter as if he or she were grown up?

A. As far as reasonably possible, yes; I think there need not be many exceptions. Most of the time, indeed, one can safely treat a child of five or ten so.

The World and the Mud Puddles

PUT YOURSELF IN.

Many an able credit and collection man has poured his literary soul into writing a series of collection letters, ranging all the way from gentle reminders through cajolery to undisguised threat. But it is doubtful if any ever produced a more fetching epistle than the ambitious office boy who in his boss' absence typed this ultimatum to a delinquent debtor:

"Unless we receive your check for $50 by June 6 we will take steps that will astonish you."
The letter brought a check where every other stratagem had failed, or so the story goes.

Writing a good letter of any sort requires a peculiar touch. The secret, if there is a secret, says Charles A. Emley in Nation's Business, is to "put yourself in the envelope and seal the flap."

The correspondent who can do this must have first swept his mind clear of all the cliché cobwebs that make most letters so banal, particularly business letters. If he is replying, he replies directly, knowing it's not necessary to repeat half of what the other person's letter has said. A letter does not have to be a complete record in itself. Then he speaks his mind with as little reserve as the matter and the character of his correspondent will permit. He throws in, if possible, at least one conversational human touch.

Finally, having written his epistle, the good letter writer reads it over and asks himself if everything expressed in it is perfectly clear. If there's the slightest doubt on that score he revises before sealing himself inside the flap.

Good Taste

By W. E. Peck and O'Brien

"My sister thinks I'm old-fashioned because I reprimand her for allowing her small daughter to sit in on grown-up conversations." She discusses the most sophisticated items before the child, stating that by so doing she will kill any curiosity the child may have about "certain facts." She says it's the modern idea. I still think she is wrong. How about it?—Stella.

In answer: When a child reaches the age of puberty, every parent should make certain explanations to keep the child from having to resort to sordid "street knowledge." The youngster who is properly told the facts of life at home has no avid curiosity to listen in on these distorted conversations. However, no parent should dwell on these subjects nor openly discuss "grown-up" topics within hearing of very young ears. A child's mind should be kept free from these things and the wise parent will guard her tongue while the youngsters are around. The healthy-minded child is she who is encouraged to read naive literature and play childhood games with playmates of her own age.

This is a continuation of yesterday's reply to the question: "Must all male members of the wedding party dress alike and what should they wear?"

In small and country towns where conventions are not so strictly adhered to and at any wedding that can be called simple, each man in the bridal party may wear: A well-tailored navy blue sack suit, stiff white shirt with wing collar, blue and white (bow or four-in-hand) tie, black silk socks and calfskin shoes, a white boutonniere and no gloves. If a wedding takes place in midsummer at the seashore or in the country or in a garden, the men may wear white flannel or linen trousers, blue coat and blue and white tie, white shoes, white or dark blue or gray socks, straw sailor, Panama or no hat at all.

For a formal evening wedding, full dress for men is required: swallow-tail bow suit, white waistcoat, wing collar, white bow tie, silk hat, black socks and patent leather shoes. Dinner coats (tuxedos) take the place of black sack coats with gray striped trousers and either dinner coats or mess jackets or white dinner coats take the place of summer daytime flannels or flannels.

Question: I want to know if it is within the rules of wedding etiquette to be married in the home of the groom if it is more attractive than your own home?—B. B. B.

Answer: No. The bride must be married either in church or in her own home.

Recently a would-be chicken fancier had some difficulty with her flock and wrote the following letter to the Department of Agriculture: "Something is wrong with my chickens. What's What At A Glance

Tax Measure Framers Are On Spot
Solons Drawing Up Bill Worried
Democrats In Particular Scared

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Robert L. Doughton, chairman of the House of Representatives ways and means committee, keeps up his spirits reasonably well. A majority of his fellow committeemen, however, look pretty grim. The representatives' ways and means committee has the job of framing up the new tax bill and its members are strongly of the opinion that the country's voters aren't going to like the fierce increases that it is bound to embody. And when the voters don't like a piece of legislation, they are extremely apt to manifest their resentment on next election day, at the political expense of the lawmakers they consider responsible for it.

All members of the ways and means committee are worried, but the 15 Democrats, with the possible exception of Chairman Doughton, are worried most. The 10 Republicans will be in a position to tell their constituents that, being in a minority, they couldn't help the coming tax boosts. The Democrats' only excuse will have to be that the boosts were unavoidable in the face of the present national and worldwide emergency. Of course, they try to assure themselves that the average voter is patriotic enough not to care what it costs to aid the democracies and prepare for America's defense. Nevertheless, they know darned well that it will require a heck of a lot of patriotism to soothe most taxpayers' feelings the next time they hear from Uncle Sam's revenue collectors.

Chairman Doughton is comparatively cheery probably because he believes nothing can beat him in his North Carolina congressional district in 1942. It is already has sent him to Washington 16 times untrumpeted. He's next on the representatives' list after Congressman Edward T. Taylor of Colorado, with 17 terms and Taylor's next after Congressman Adolph J. Sabath of Illinois, the father of the House, with 18.

Considering his 16 successive successes with his home folk, Chairman Doughton doubtless is justified in his apparent confidence that he'll win again.

Others Are Scared

The rest of the committee, though, obviously are thoroughly scared.

All the Democratic representatives are nervous, for the whole House will have to vote on the tax bill shortly and it'll be a sockdolager, even if the ways and means committee's initial draft is modified a bit. The Republicans in general, just as in the committee, aren't so anxious, since they're in a helpless minority and can explain themselves on that ground. In fact, G. P. National Chairman Joseph W. Martin has hopes of gaining control of the House in November, 1942, for his party. To do it he'll have to overcome a margin of 111 seats against him which looks like being quite a

MEASURING THE YEARS.
The youngster waiting Christmas thinks the year an endless thing.

But the older crowding seventy knows that time is swift of wing.

The youngster looks at forty as if two-score years are long.

But the older smiles to hear him, for he knows the lad is wrong.

Then what is age, you question, if it isn't told by years.

And how are we to know it when the end of youth appears?

Well, Time is swift of feather, but the heart of man is stout.

And years alone won't age him till his strength has given out.

And whether man be twenty or eighty to the year.

The heart alone can tell him when old age has caught him here.

WHAT is perfectly certain is that with the inevitable rise in the cost of living there will be inevitable pressure for a rise in wages and food prices will render abortive Leon Henderson's efforts to keep a ceiling over prices for manufactured goods. The net effect of this eighty-five per cent. parity bill, which enables the farmer, using the 1923 price level as the base, to borrow practically full value of his crop from the Government, will be to contribute greatly to the danger of that upward inflationary spiral against which the Treasury, Mr. Henderson, Mr. Eccles, other government officials and all economists warn.

NOBODY disputes this. And yet here is the President permitting, without protest, the enactment of a law which will wreck his own budget, nullify his price-control policy, make his proposed additional three-and-a-half-billion tax proposals grossly inadequate, increase the danger of inflation, render economy pleas ridiculous and cause his patriotic call for everybody to make "sacrifices" seem a poor joke indeed. What is the explanation of White House inertia while so devastating a blow is dealt Administration policies? Why does the President not raise his voice and exert his strength to rally his friends against destructive action by the professional labor and farm leaders? Various explanations are suggested. The kindest is that Mr. Roosevelt is trying personally to direct the defense effort in addition to his other duties, has taken on more than he—or, for that matter, any man—can, and that he is bogging down under the load. But in the matter of the great farm grab this does not relieve Congress of the charge that it has subordinated the national interests by supinely yielding to pressure in an emergency.

The Senate will have the proposition to enact as soon as the representatives are through with it, and that'll mark lines of care in senatorial brows, especially in the brows of the finance committee members, who'll have to tackle it first.

But the idea's this—As fiscal legislation, the thing has to start in the House of Representatives, and in that house, it has to come first out of the ways and means committee room.

In the Spotlight
Thus the representatives' ways and means outfit is initially and outright violently right under the taxation spotlight like no other group on Capitol Hill. It makes those boys as conspicuous as the Washington monument, with a "searchlight turned on it at night."

What they'd hoped was that President Roosevelt, in asking for his $3,500,000,000 would explain in detail just how he wanted it raised. Then they'd have said "Since we're all for unity, F. D. R. must have exactly what he prescribes." Accordingly, they'd have framed the bill that way. And if there was any subsequent kicking, they'd have replied, "Well, kick to F. D. R. Don't blame us."

But all F. D. R. told 'em was that he needed $3,500,000,000 and he wanted it in a form that would make "the rich richer or the poor poorer." He wished the entire rest of darndest taxation problem in American history off onto that unfortunate committee's hands.

Biblical Sunday Will Be Observed

Sunday, May 18, Biblical Sunday Will Be Celebrated By Local Roman Catholics

On Sunday, May 18, the local Roman Catholics will observe Biblical Sunday, and all local church members who have been appointed deacons, New Testament committees are working in conjunction with their parish committees to celebrate this occasion properly.

Biblical Sunday is sponsored by the American Hierarchy and its establishment has been praised by the Pontifical Biblical Commission. The principles upon the New Testament rests were submitted to the secretary and other members of the Biblical Commission at Rome, and have received complete approval.

On this day in our local churches as well as in other Catholic churches attention will be called to the Sacred Scriptures and also to the revelation of the New Testament.

The ladies of the convention church under the leadership of Mrs. Fred Sontum, will serve both noon and evening meals to the delegates. The facilities of the First United Presbyterian church for entertaining a convention are excellent, and the parking facilities are entirely adequate for the large number of delegates that will be present from all over the county.

It is hoped that practically all of full parity, which has been the farm-labor dream cherished for many years.

NO one can estimate the approximate cost of this to the Government, but it is agreed it will be far above the $450,000,000 which is to come out of the other bill. It may run to a truly fantastic amount. Naturally, the farm leaders are exultant, and resistance to them is practically non-existent. It is an astounding state of affairs, because this bill, if finally made into law, will make Mr. Roosevelt's budget look silly. In addition, it will knock the bottom out of the CFP's effort to keep down prices and will increase the cost of living ten per cent. The bill's sponsors optimistically say the increase will probably not be more than five; but no one believes that. They do not even believe it themselves.

WHAT is perfectly certain is that with the inevitable rise in the cost of living there will be inevitable pressure for a rise in wages and food prices will render abortive Leon Henderson's efforts to keep a ceiling over prices for manufactured goods. The net effect of this eighty-five per cent. parity bill, which enables the farmer, using the 1923 price level as the base, to borrow practically full value of his crop from the Government, will be to contribute greatly to the danger of that upward inflationary spiral against which the Treasury, Mr. Henderson, Mr. Eccles, other government officials and all economists warn.

Guard Press Today, Publisher Cox Says

Man Who Took Fred Rentz's Foreman Post Years Ago Visits Here

The man who succeeded Fred L. Rentz as composing room foreman when Rentz stepped up to the management of The News 44 years ago, believes America, today as never before, must guard its free press.

"In these days the free news columns of the nation's press stand as guardians of democracy," said J. A. "Jake" Cox, now owner-publisher of the weekly Willshire Herald at Willshire, in VanWert, county, O.

Cox was here today with his wife, the former Miss Jennie Potter, of this city, and he visited The News to see Mr. Rentz, now president and managing editor. Whenever they meet they swap yarns of early day experiences on the paper.

Was With School System

The Willshire publisher, who was head printing instructor at the old New Castle trade school for some time before going to VanWert county about nine years ago, recalled that he completed his printing training under Mr. Rentz when he was foreman. In 1897, when Mr. Rentz became manager, Cox, who had come here from East Palestine, O., was promoted to the foremanship. He remained in that post about 16 years.

Cox enjoyed farm life in the time intervening between his foremanship at The News and his assumption of the school printing instructor post.

Mr. and Mrs. Cox are stopping with the former's two sisters, Mrs. Robert Young and Miss Anna Cox, of Maryland avenue.

Today's Lesson in Flag Etiquette

Never let the American flag touch the ground or the floor, or trail in the water.

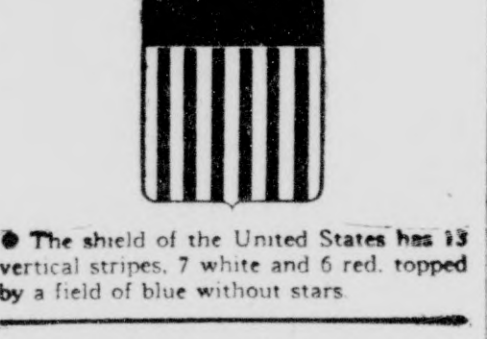

Make sure the flag never touches the ground when placed in a fixed position upon a grave.

When used to cover a casket, the flag should be placed so that the stars are at the head in the upper right hand corner (over the heart) looking from the foot. The flag should not be lowered into the grave nor allowed to touch the ground.

The flag should never be draped over the hood, top, sides or back of a vehicle, train, automobile or boat. When displayed on a motor car, the staff should be attached firmly to the chassis or clamped to the radiator cap.

The shield of the United States has 13 vertical stripes, 7 white and 6 red, topped by a field of blue without stars.

This is the fifth of a series of five lessons in "Flag Etiquette" as approved by the National Department of Education. Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, offered to the readers of The News as a timely patriotic feature designed to stimulate proper observance of National Flag Code regulations.

Prize Winning Essay Released

Shenango Township High School Boy Tells What Uncle Sam Means To Him

WON PRIZE IN ELKS CONTEST

Chairman Arthur B. Foster of the Elks essay contest committee, which recently sponsored a contest in the local schools on the subject "What Uncle Sam means to me" today released the prize winning essay of publication.

The essay of Wilbert Gill of Shenango Township high school, which was awarded first honors by the judges, and which is now entered in the final competition, for a prize of $1,000, is given here.

It is further announced by Chairman Foster that the final arbiter in the judging contest will be former Governor Wilbur Lucius Cross of Connecticut. He is an outstanding literary figure in the United States, and in addition to serving as governor of Connecticut for four terms, has for many years edited the Yale Review.

Gill's essay follows:

"WHAT UNCLE SAM MEANS TO ME"

"Uncle Sam means to me the guiding spirit back of every patriot's deeds or thoughts.

"The first evidences of an Uncle Sam were seen in the year preceding the Revolutionary War. It was then the Colonists saw what freedom could mean to an oppressed people. These virtuous men were incited to fight, and fight bravely, to overcome tyranny. With the establishment of the United States of America Uncle Sam actually came into being.

"Today he is more than ever alive in the hearts of every 'red blooded American". Uncle Sam is honored and revered in every corner of our nation, from Maine to California. Yet never before in his history were his ideals in greater danger of being undermined.

"He is in common with the army and navy men whose devoted patriotism prompts his course that of protecting America. His action is typical of the brand of unselfish bravery Uncle Sam impels.

"The factory worker by whom the nation is armed is influenced by Uncle Sam. He works not for his own interest, but for the preservation of his country. Would he do this if it were not for the rights he seeks to make secure?

"The nurse, keeping her constant vigil over the sick or injured, thinks not of herself, but of doing her duty to the best of her ability. In time of war or disaster her job is that of checking epidemics or caring for the wounded. She saves lives as graciously as war ungraciously seeks to destroy them. Her deeds are the kind Uncle Sam brings forth.

"The scientist or inventor who creates and seeks to create one of his emblems. He works to make our lives safer and more pleasant. Yet in time of war he can devise means of protecting his country from would-be world rulers. His act is an example of what men will do to keep burning the flame of liberty.

"Last but not less great, the farmer, too, must be considered. His loyalty to Uncle Sam is only exceeded by his desire to feed well Uncle Sam's followers.

"All these people from all walks of life, make up the spirit of Uncle Sam, and to me, they mean 'Uncle Sam'. Each is working for himself. He is a part of Uncle Sam without being conscious of it. By his sacrifices he is helping a cause to be made the greatest cause on earth. That cause is the security of our democracy and of the immortal Uncle Sam."

Improvement Of Big Run Continues

When Completed Menace Of South Side Flood Will Be Gone

Improvement of the Big Run is forging ahead and when completed the menace of a flood on the South Side will have been removed.

Huge shovels are digging rock and dirt from the stream and the stone walls are not only good but enhance the appearance.

The channel which formerly was close to the houses along Big Run street has been forced south a considerable distance.

On top of the stone walls which will extend approximately 20 feet high in some places will be a neat appearing stone parapet.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

CHILD CAN BE WELL-TRAINED IN TOILET ROUTINE AT ONE YEAR

Last of a series on normal progress of the child in the first year.

By the time a baby celebrates his first birthday, he should have a fairly well established toilet routine. He should have learned bowel control, to the extent that he can give his mother some indication when he must go to the toilet, and he should have begun to learn bladder control.

Bladder control is more difficult to teach. The way to start is to place the child on the seat several times a day, at regular intervals, usually soon after meals. When he does control himself properly, praise him; let him understand that is what he should do. On the other hand, don't scold him when he fails to control himself. You will be surprised how soon the average baby will catch on and take care of matters properly.

When a baby is a year old, his diapers may be replaced by pants in the daytime—that is, if he has learned some measure of toilet routine. However, it may be necessary to put diapers on him at night for as much as six months longer.

If the one-year-old is kept on a regular routine in other respects, his toilet training will be helped. He must be bathed regularly, and he should spend as much time outdoors as the weather will permit. Regular sun baths are as important to him as to adults.

Clothe your child sensibly, don't overdress him, and see that the clothes he has on don't bind him or impede his movements in any way. Choose his shoes carefully, see that they are of soft leather, with hard soles and that they don't cramp the toes.

Mothers of one-year-olds need to be doubly careful of accidents. At this age the child is just beginning to get about by himself. He no longer can be depended to stay in the place where she puts him. So, she should watch that he doesn't wander too near the stove, or near the cellar stairway. Object that he might swallow must be put beyond his reach. Be careful of knives and other sharp objects with which he might cut himself or put out an eye.

Everything the baby wears and all his cooking and feeding utensils must be scrupulously clean. His body hasn't yet built up an immunity against the diseases encountered in every day life. And so he should not be taken places where he is surrounded by crowds of people, where there is an over-heated atmosphere, or where people have colds or any other contagion.

The mother must watch to see that the baby doesn't become overtired. When he does you will notice that he is cross, that he refuses his food and is nervous. His sleep may even be affected. It has been playing vigorously and strenuously for long periods of time, it's a good idea for mother to take him on her knee and get him to rest and relax for a while.

Just because your baby is a year old now, don't relax the rules regarding his sleep. It is quite natural for him to sleep the entire clock around at night. He may even sleep longer to good advantage. Before this he may well have a nap in the morning, and of course he must have his sleep in the afternoon. I think about an hour and a half each morning and afternoon is about right.

A great many mothers write me, much upset, because their children, at the age of a year, appear to be bald. They think this means that the child will never have much hair. This is nothing to worry about for lack of hair does not mean that the baby isn't healthy. Actually, there isn't any rule to govern the growth of hair. Dark babies always seem to have more hair than blonde babies. It's the blondes who usually seem to be bald.

The fontanelle, or soft spot on top of the baby's head, begins to close by the time the baby is twelve months old. It probably won't be entirely closed until the baby is a year-and-a-half or more, but at a year the soft spot is definitely smaller than it was. If this fontanelle isn't closing at the age of a year, it is often a good idea to consult your doctor, for it may be a sign of rickets.

Let's give our modern people credit. Few old-timers would have survived if fast horses and buggies had been as thick as cars are now.

THE SALVATION ARMY

The charter of incorporation of The Salvation Army defines the organization as a body "designed to operate as a religious and charitable corporation in all the states and territories of the United States." Among the purposes designated are: The spiritual, moral, and physical reformation of all who need it; the reclamation of the criminal, dissolute, and degraded; visitation among the poor and lowly and sick; the preaching of the Gospel and the dissemination of Christian truth by means of open-air and indoor meetings.

Such profits as are derived from the variety of homes maintained by the army, its bureaus, institutions, and other business activities must be devoted exclusively to religious and humanitarian pursuits.

The two-fold purpose of the Army all over the world is religious and social. The men's and women's social service work are carried on under the direct supervision of an officer who is answerable to the territorial headquarters.

Some of the work is purely local in character because it caters to specific needs of a specific locality. For example, a working girls' hotel can only meet local needs, but a maternity home ministers to the wants of a large area.

Reports are submitted regularly to the territorial commander on every phase of work, budgets, expenditures, minutes of board meetings, relief given, etc., so that the local corps is in constant touch with its superiors and in a position to receive their counsel and guidance at all times.

As will be indicated in a forthcoming article, every officer of The Salvation Army is thoroughly trained to do the job to which he is assigned in an efficient, kindly manner.

Due to an error the name of Ruth Baird was omitted as program chairman of the mothers and daughters banquet which was held at the Union High school Wednesday evening. The banquet was sponsored by the Library club, which is under the supervision of Fern Cloak.

Copyright Label On Buddy Poppy

McBride Post Is Sponsoring
Annual Sale Here On May 24

PROCEEDS GO TO VETERAN RELIEF

Arrangements have been made for the sale of Buddy Poppies in New Castle by the Corporal Harry L. McBride post No. 522 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in the United States on May 24.

The name of the Buddy Poppy is registered by the V. F. W. and no one not authorized by the local post will be permitted to sell them. Each flower is labeled, and as further precaution V. F. W. poppy sellers will be furnished with credentials of identification, it was announced today by Joseph R. Mescall, chairman of the V. F. W. Buddy committee in charge of the local poppy sale plans.

"Throughout the United States disabled and needy ex-service men, crippled heroes of Chateau Thierry and the Argonne, of St. Mihiel and Verdun, are at work in Veterans Administration hospitals making thousands of scarlet poppies which will clean in significant tribute in the button-holes of all America on Memorial Day," said Mr. Mescall.

Each genuine Buddy Poppy carries a copyright label which identifies it as the genuine handicraft of disabled or needy ex-service men. This work is being done in the government hospitals under an arrangement with the U. S. Veterans Administration, and a total of 6,000,000 will be completed in readiness for the opening of the sale in every section of the country.

The sale proceeds are devoted exclusively to relief activities, with one cent from each poppy sold allotted to the maintenance and expansion of the V. F. W. national home for widows and orphans of ex-service men at Eaton Rapids, Mich. The success of the annual sale has facilitated the erection of new buildings during the past several years, and a number of additional children and mothers have been thus accommodated. The home site covers 640 acres.

The necessity for adequate funds for the relief and welfare work among ex-service men and their dependents continues to exist in each community. There is an increasing number of needy veterans whose health has finally given away as a result of war-time experiences, making them no longer capable of self-support.

Two Injured In Plunge Of Plane

(International News Service)
DU BOIS, Pa., May 17.—Vernon Proger, 22, and James C. Farley, 31, both of Chicago, were in a hospital here today from injuries sustained late yesterday when their airplane crashed near Penfield.

The men were en route westward from Lockhaven with the new plane and missed the Du Bois airport. The plane was badly damaged.

Proger suffered fractures of the jaw and had to have a piece of metal removed from his throat. Farley suffered a lacerated forehead.

Women seem naturally to respect men. If a man talks big in time of trial, his wife never suspects that he is as scared as she is.

Many Jobs Have Been Provided

Local Branch Of Employment
Bureau Reports 1,483 Jobs
Secured Since January 1

A total of 1,483 jobs—for men and women—have been provided by the New Castle branch of Pennsylvania Bureau of Employment and Unemployment Compensation since January 1, Acting Manager John Velker today reported.

He said demands for skilled workers, especially those skilled in defense industries, the condition is expected to prevail for months. "We've put a good many on jobs here and in other cities," Velker declared. "And we'll place a good many more during the coming months."

Those not working were urged to register at the Citizens Bank building employment headquarters immediately, for, as Velker said, "we just might put you on a job tomorrow."

There were 271 job placements in January, 251 in February, 325 in March, 473 in April and 163 so far in May.

The brightening industrial picture, the office chief revealed, has complicated the hiring of domestics for homes. Girls prefer factory employment and they make no secret of it, he said.

Deferment Is Given Medical Students

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, May 17.—Medical students today were granted a deferment from military service until the expiration of their school training.

In a report from the office of production management, announced by Gov. Arthur H. James and state selective service headquarters, local draft boards were told: "It is of paramount importance that the supply of student physicians be not only maintained but encouraged to grow, and that no student or interne who gives reasonable promise of becoming an acceptable medical doctor be called to military service before attaining that status."

Local boards were reminded, however, that the deferment exists only until the student completes his medical training after which he is obligated for military service.

BEEKEEPING ENGAGES ATTENTION OF 30,000

Nearly 30,000 persons in Pennsylvania are beekeepers. Of this number 200 are in Lawrence County. The total number of colonies of bees in the state is 175,000, and about 2,500 of these are in Lawrence County.

Beekeepers of Pennsylvania harvest approximately 4,500,000 pounds of honey each year, and in addition 150,000 pounds of beeswax is rendered from cappings and old combs. These products have a retail value of about $20,000.

Most sales of honey in the state are nearly twice the production, nearly 8,000,000 pounds being consumed by Pennsylvanians.

May, June, and July are the months when the bees gather most of the surplus quantities of nectar from wild flowers which they make into honey. During this time the beekeeper watches his bees closely to be sure that they have plenty of super space for the storage of honey. During May and June swarming must be prevented.

GROW VEGETABLE CROPS FOR YIELD AND QUALITY

Production records of sweet corn, peas, tomatoes, and other canning crops in Pennsylvania during the past six years show profitable practices as followed by successful growers.

In all cases, large yields resulted in higher quality and greater net returns from cash and labor required to grow and market the crop.

Ann Sheridan Voices Opinion About Harvard

Calls Harvard Home Of Unadulterated Heel For What They Did To Marjorie
Woodworth

(International News Service)
HOLLYWOOD, May 17.—"Harvard," said actress Ann Sheridan today, is the home of the unadulterated heel, and yet, can quote me on it."

The red-haired actress was referring, of course, to the lads who yesterday gave a weird reception to Marjorie Woodworth, the young actress who was invited to be an honor guest at the annual ball given by the staff of the Harvard Lampoon.

Miss Woodworth was pelted with oranges by the campus cut-ups and a near-riot ensued until the police sent out a juvenile delinquency squad to restore order.

Miss Sheridan learned of the incident, and since she has a marked distaste for Harvard ever since the Lampoon dubbed her as "1940's actress least likely to succeed," she let her scorn run rampant this time.

"I knew then they weren't gentlemen," she snapped. "Now I'm sure of it. I would like to see no record to the effect that Harvard is the home of the pure, unadulterated heel."

"If what they did to that 19-year-old girl, their guest, is supposed to be funny, then I'm sorry for them."

Relatives trailed the unit from its armory in the old Post Office building to the Pennsylvania station where the reservists boarded a train for an unannounced destination. They will be located on a training station for a few weeks before putting to sea for shipboard service.

Pirates Defeat Brooklyn 3 To 2

Elbie Fletcher Bangs Out Homer For Pirates Margin, Yanks Bench Rizzuto And Priddy

By PAT ROBINSON
(International News Service Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, May 17.—Once again it has been demonstrated that too much ballyhoo can retard, if it doesn't actually kill, the career of a young ball player.

We have in mind the cases of Gerald Priddy and Ralph Rizzuto, who came up to the Yankees from Kansas City this season, handicapped by the heaviest load of non-sensical ballyhoo two young players ever had to carry.

To hear the tub thumpers tell it, these two formed the greatest second base combination in the country. Eddie Collins, Frankie Frisch and Nap Lajoie were pretty fair, we were told but wait until you get a load of this Priddy.

Revamped Yanks Win
And Hans Wagner, Travis Jackson and Dave Bancroft were fine shortstops all right, but what could they do that this Rizzuto can't do?

Now that kind of stuff was absurd on its face. And since both young Priddy and Rizzuto can read, it was bound to have a harmful effect, because it forced them to try to live up to their advance notices and nobody ever lived up to his clip-pings.

The result was the boys began to piece this yesterday's McCarthy bunched them both. We have no doubt both youngsters will make good in the big leagues and very soon, at that. But it might be well to remember that neither is yet a Wagner nor a Collins and a ride on the bench will give them a chance to find themselves.

With the youngsters out, Crosetti and Gordon formed the keystone combine for the Yanks again, and Johnny Sturm took over at first base.

And the Yanks came through in the ninth on triples by DiMaggio and Gordon and Red Ruffing's pinch single to beat the White Sox, 6-5, and end a losing streak that had run through five games.

But the Indians also won and actually increased their lead over the second place club by again knocking over the Red Sox, 9 to 3. The Tigers topped the Athletics, 5-4, on a two-run homer by Rookie Pat Mullin and the Senators came from behind in the ninth to trim the Browns, 7-6.

Pirates Trim Dodgers
The Dodgers had their winning streak checked after seven straight by the Pirates, who previously had stopped the Brooks after they had won nine in a row. This time the Pirates had to go 11 innings to turn the trick, 3-2. After Higbe went out for a pinch hitter in the tenth, Mace Brown took over and Elbie Fletcher, first man to face Brown, promptly belted him for a game-winning homer.

With Ott hitting his eighth homer and Hubbell doing a nice relief bit, the Giants made it four in a row by topping the Cubs, 4-2.

A change of scenery sometimes works wonders for a pitcher, as witness the case of Harry Gumbert, traded by the Giants to the Cards. Harry made his first effort in his new uniform, a six-hit, 4-0 victory over the Braves.

NEW YORK—Manhattan crossed New York university's goal lines four times for the only touchdowns of a practice football game.

Four Good Games In League Sunday

Ryantown Will Play At West

Pittsburg, Elders Will Battle Croton At Croton Field

There are four good games listed for the City Baseball League Sunday afternoon (weather permitting) at 2:30 o'clock. The league leading Elders A. C. will play the Croton A. C. team at the Croton field on Cascade street. Manager Joe O'Leary will have either Paller or Withrow on the knoll, with Stone slated to pitch for the Crotons.

West Pittsburg will play host to the Ryantown team. Manager Dan DeGenova of the "Gas House" gang said today that he would start either Braky or Tonsettic, with Powell also a starting possibility. Herby Owy may start for the Ryantowners.

The Moose will be at home at Marshall field meeting the West Side A. C. team, with starting hurlers of both teams much in doubt today. The one other game will take the Lawrence Indies to the Clifton Flats field to battle the Slovaks. It will be either Rainey or Russu on the hill for the Indies, with Janoski slated to go to the rubber for the Slovaks.

SAINTS GET RAFFY
ST. PAUL—St. Paul's pitching staff has been augmented by the acquisition of Kenny Raffensberger, southpaw pitcher, from the Chicago Cubs. Ken won 7 and lost 9 in the National League in 1940.

The Titans' wins over Harold Piau, New Springfield; William Schweitzer, Pittsburgh; Rodney Lane, Johnstown; Norval Christy, Pittsburgh; Joe Anderson, Butler; Aymer Girdwood, Bigsont; Mac Findlay, Cleveland Heights, O.; Joe Demoise, Greensburg, and Myron Wheeler, Hubbard, O.

Westminster Professors Develop Mush Ball Team

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, May 17.—The traditional idea of a college professor as a long-haired, bespectacled gentleman will have to undergo a radical change, according to evidence shown by Westminster college faculty members.

Each evening, after flunking the day's quota of students, the younger members of the faculty, as well as some of more uncertain age, repair to the Ethelred field and go through the motions of playing mushball. Those abortive efforts have resulted in the formation of a team which challenges all comers of the same class. Just what that class is, nobody knows.

Annual goal of the faculty "nine" or "ten" (an extra player is inserted into a mushball lineup, and in the case of the faculty team, as many as they can get in without arousing suspicion) is a series of two games with the Grove City college faculty organization. The first of the 1941 series has already been played, the game going to Grove City on their home grounds. Professor Leon Marshall, head of Westminster's history department and captain of the team, is nevertheless confident of victory.

Expect Big Crowds At Lawrence Games

Providing good baseball weather prevails at 3 p. m. Sunday, managers of four teams in the Lawrence County Baseball league anticipate large crowds. Ellwood City, champions of 1941, will oppose Bessemer league runner-up, at Bessemer, and Wampum will take on Hillsville at Hillsville.

League Standing
	W	L	Pct.
Ellwood City	2	0	1.000
Bessemer	1	1	.500
Wampum	1	2	.333
Hillsville	1	2	.333

Touring a few of the sports belts:

One of our three readers, who prefers remaining in the anonymous bracket, says that the New Castle Church Golf league is the only loop of its kind in the country. The contributor merged with this revelation following considerable checking. The circuit is functioning for the eighth consecutive semester.

Asked to make a prediction, Frank Leahy, Notre Dame's new grid maestro said: "The university administration doesn't expect a national championship next fall. We'll lose three games and maybe four." . . . Don Budge, the tennis whizz, manages to break 90 for 18 holes.

The two Maxies, Baer and Rosenbloom, are teaming up on a few movie shorts. "Who is Slapsie?" sounds like a pretty good title for one of the shorts. . . . Joe Louis is 10 to 1 hot shot to dispose of Buddy Baer in Washington. If you'd like to lay a few sheets at the above quoted odds, try and find someone who will lay the odds.

That vacant Colgate basketball coaching job must be a bit of all right. Only 114 men sought the berth which went to one of our district pilots, Karl Lawrence, of Allegheny. The Valley Giants, a semi-pro football machine from Beaver county way, now belongs to Milton Weiner. Frank A. Weber

The following umpires have been assigned to the City baseball league games and the Lawrence County league games Sunday by Leo W. Hill, head of the local umpires association.

City League Games
At Clifton Flats—General and Costello.
At Marshall Field—Mehalic and Tip Richards.
At Croton—Irwin and Tex Richards.
At West Pittsburg—McIntyre and Anzella.

At Hillsville—Adams and B. Price.

Local Boys Aid Slippery Rock In College Golf Win

Ted Bukowski, Alex Dutkin, And Phil Nocera On Winning Combination

Three New Castle youths, Ted Bukowski, Alex "Chinkie" Dutkin, and Phil Nocera, aided Slippery Rock to capture the annual Allegheny college invitational golf tournament at Conneaut Lake course Friday, the three with Andy DeFazio, having low total of 327 strokes, seven ahead of Washington and Jefferson who have won the tournament two successive years.

Chuck Wilson of W. and J. was medalist with a 75 for the 18 holes, Bukowski being three strokes behind with a pair of 39's for 78. Dutkin and Nocera had 81's, and DeFazio an 87, for the team's winning total.

Grove City and Hiram finished third and fourth. Westminster's team of Campbell, Davis, McFarland and Stevens finished in last place.

Bob Montgomery Defeats Jenkins

Quaker City Fighter Takes Non-Titular Bout From Champ

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Staff Editor)
NEW YORK, May 17.—Bob Montgomery, a tireless colored fellow with a persistent left hand and an elusive head, was on the trail of a boxing championship today, either Fritzee Zivic's water title or the lightweight crown which Lex Jenkins retained last night although defeated in an over-the-weight battle with the Negro. And that was Bessemer, 3 to 2, about at the 10-round.

The scrubby Texan left the ring with his equilibrium slightly impaired, with his punch gone and his features battered askew, after having won only two rounds, and he had to get up off the floor to finish.

It was a case of retribution finally catching up to him. He took a disputed decision over Montgomery in the latter's native Philadelphia in a previous match and, reportedly, didn't pay too much attention to his training for this encounter. The ultimate result became obvious in about the second or third round, when Montgomery still was plying in after having been thumped several times by Jenkins' Sunday punch, or the remains thereof.

Last night's engagement seemed to make two things evident, one being that Montgomery still can make the lightweight limit, contrary to general opinion for he weighed only 136½. In the second place he will lift Jenkins' title if he is given the chance later in the summer and would give Zivic a rousing battle for the welter crown if he lands that engagement instead.

LEGION OF HONOR TO GOLF MONDAY

Members of the Legion of Honor will have another golfing match on Monday evening at Castle Hills course, when a blind bogie will be played.

The Legion of Honor group inaugurated the season last week, with a large attendance present, and an even larger crowd is looked for this coming Monday.

As far as the local politicians are concerned . . . this fall is important. Several offices are open and the contest will be a spirited one from the early indications that are on the streets now. But we must all keep our heads . . . after all, the man who doesn't win isn't always the worst of the lot. We hope that each and every one will not vote blindly . . . we can't start thinking about the coming election too soon.

Of course the weather today is not so very nice for going on a picnic . . . however without this rainy weather there wouldn't be any food to take on a picnic. So that is one thing to be thankful for . . . you needn't go far to enjoy a meal in the outdoors, try Cascade Park this summer . . . there open fireplaces with plenty of wood right handy . . . this park is your park, citizen, why not use it at every opportunity. Take a walk out there some day and look things over.

The population of the United States has banded together and call this organization the United Service Organization . . . all creeds and nationalities are working together for the object is to raise enough money to establish recreation buildings near the new army camps. Some 10 millions of dollars will be raised by you people (every one has an opportunity to help in national defense) and an equal amount will be used by the National Government. P. J. Flaherty is the local chairman of this organization and from time to time you will be hearing more . . . we hope that each and every citizen in this county will want to do their part.

Are you planning to attend a church service this week-end? Why not take a few moments . . . the time is short and you will do yourself and the country a great deal of good by showing your face at a church service. This country was built on a faith that was solid . . . if we of this generation let that faith become weak . . . then we have lost all that our forefathers fought for . . . we are going to let go of our way of living—Freedom of Speech, Religion and Thought. No, a thousand times no . . . these citizens of the United States are not going to be blinded . . . come on folks, let's keep this country going smoothly.

Announce Committees For St. Vitus Affair

One of New Castle's top social events takes place in The Cathedral Monday evening, when St. Vitus church parishioners stage their thirty-second annual spaghetti dinner-dance.

The Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita, who became pastor of the south side church shortly after the turn of the century and developed a tiny one-room structure into one of the biggest and finest institutions in the district, today turned back the pages of history and said:

"We were in dire need of funds back in 1909. I decided to try a spaghetti dinner. The affair met with marked success. The following year, parishioners and many non-parishioners asked for a similar occasion. The affair was even more successful than that of the previous year. Then, we decided to hold the benefit annually."

Judging by preliminary reports, the coming event will top those staged in the past. Arrangements are being made to accommodate more than 1,500 persons for dinner alone. Dinner will be served between 5 and 8 o'clock. Hot plates of spaghetti, cooked in genuine Neapolitan style, will be served. Dancing will be in vogue, starting at 9 o'clock.

Plan To Remove Valuable Records From Washington

Priceless Documents In Library Of Congress May Be Removed If Emergency Arises

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, May 17.—Elaborate plans are being made to remove and store valuable records and documents from the library of Congress for safekeeping "through an emergency" it was disclosed today in testimony released by the House Appropriations Committee.

The testimony was given by Librarian Archibald MacLeish. While not specific was said about what the emergency might be, committee members said it was obvious the step was being taken against the possibility this country might become involved in war and Washington be bombed.

MacLeish estimated that the entire removal and storage program will cost $150,000. He explained what is being done as follows:

"I am speaking of plan is to select out the absolutely unique, irreplaceable and invaluable objects, like the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution, the Washington Papers, etc. and we want to try to provide for them the maximum protection that could be given."

"Secondly, we want to select out other items having exceptional value; not the extreme value of the first group, but exceptional value which in case of necessity we would have to locations outside Washington, scattered in buildings, perhaps in smaller towns, where there is little likelihood of injury."

MacLeish said his office already had communicated with some 60 post offices in Virginia, West Virginia and Pennsylvania and arranged to store some of the documents in those buildings if it becomes necessary.

The French government paid only $625 for a portrait of the late President, which hangs in the Louvre, in Paris.

County commissioners George H. Bolinger and Joseph F. Travers have returned from Harrisburg where they attended a special spring convention of the Pennsylvania County Commissioners Association.

The convention was called to consider legislation now pending before the General Assembly. One of the pieces of legislation which was considered according to Mr. Bolinger was the bill concerning the present county assessor plan.

The bill as originally drawn would eliminate the county assessors and replace them with a board of assessors to be appointed. Amendments have been offered to the bill one of which would provide for a chief assessor for the county, to supervise the work of the precinct assessors. Other legislation was also considered and on Wednesday night a banquet was held.

Commissioner W. R. Walton did not attend as he is taking a part of his vacation this week.

Dear Editor: It seems almost a certainty that the conscription age will be lowered to include boys of eighteen—one never says "men" of eighteen.

They are boys and the government doesn't recognize them as being mature enough to vote until they are twenty-one, yet they will take these boys, train them, probably send them abroad to fight and be buried on foreign soil before they are old enough to have had a voice in the government which sent them.

We expect such actions from foreign countries, but it is dreadfully un-American.
